

I Learned From John Masterson

*If you feel people could do better differently,
Give them articles and discuss them;*

*If no one has time to study,
Plan an inservice;*

*If the faculty doesn't agree to try,
Find one person who will;*

*If one person can't do it alone,
Develop teaming;*

*If teachers must teach courses they didn't choose,
Talk about caring for students;*

*If teachers have had it with students,
Discuss excellence in teaching;*

*If everyone is stressed out,
Find a way to have a party;*

*If you do not want to do paperwork,
Pass it on;*

*If you're told to do something you don't like,

*If you can't avoid it,
Insist on collaboration;*

*If you need to be left alone to do your job,
Ignore all instructions and call it site-based management;*

*If you've listened to this and find it simple,
You're in trouble;*

*If you've heard "learn and care and do,"
You have the message I learned from John Masterson.*
