

Fall of 1941. The Harris family said farewell to property. Above: Corner view shows part of the covered porch that was on the side of the kitchen. Below: The water tank on its platform is visible on the right side of the house. The Army began road construction on the properties before residents moved out. The front yard shows construction disturbance and stakes

