

throughout the 1850s and into the 1860s. Therefore, it is unknown where Eldred may have lived until his death sometime in the 1850s “out of the state of Alabama”, per the court petition below.

(Here Mary, the daughter of Eldred, is called an “Infant” in legal terms of the day, since she must have been under the “age of majority” – 21 at the time. Of course, the “infant” was a married woman at the time. This probate court file is continued below:)
