1930 Madison County, Alabama, census page, Whitesburg Precinct, showing the family of George Jones.

It is possible that George was the last person buried in the cemetery, but there is no direct indication of when the cemetery first came into use. From the size of the fenced area, it would appear that there could be over 100 graves in the cemetery, but there are not so many obvious grave depressions. Probing and exploring for grave counts could be somewhat hazardous, due to several items of unexploded ordnance found in the area under the leaves. Should there ever be a forest fire that burns away the leaves in the area, that would provide an excellent opportunity to further check this cemetery for more accurate grave count estimates and to explore for buried markers.
