

UNNAMED CEMETERY, 65 – 1

Summary Report

Overview to South-Southeast within UNNAMED CEMETERY in Test Area 1, NW/4, S17-T5S-R1W

When this cemetery was visited in January of 2003, it was found to have no tombstones, no fieldstones, and no surface evidence of grave depressions. It is a large, fenced area that could contain many hundreds of graves, if full. The location is within Test Area 1, south of Center Line Road, about halfway to Dodd Road from the entrance at the Test Area Control Gate. It is near the Clark Cemetery (65-1) and the Simpson – Jones Cemetery (65-3). The immediate theory due to location and lack of definitive surface features is that the cemetery must be a slave cemetery, probably for the Simpson and/or Clark plantations. However, an examination of the land records was done to check on the theory:

OLD LAND RECORDS OF MADISON COUNTY, ALABAMA by Margaret Matthews Cowart

If the Southern Engineering map has correctly placed the cemetery, then it was on land originally owned by John Ives, from the time of 1830. The 1830 census shows the household of John (and his wife Lucy Lanier) Ives as including only 2 slaves, and those slaves were one male and one female in the age 10 to 24 age bracket. The 1840 census shows that James (and his wife Lucy Lanier Ives) Clark had only 8 slaves. James died before Lucy did in 1844, but their estates included only a few slaves. However, John H. Hundley had gotten a part of the west half of the NW/4 of Section 17 in 1838 from John & Lucy Ives. Of course, 1838 was the date that the land record was filed with the probate court, so the actual date of transfer of ownership may have occurred a bit earlier. By 1840 Lucy had remarried to James E. Clark, a younger man that she outlived by a few month. In fact, the 1838 land ownership transfer from John & Lucy Ives included part of the NW/4 to James Clark, as well as the other parcel that went to John H. Hundley. Hundley was a witness to the Last Will & Testament of James Clark. (See the Summary Report for the Clark 65-2 Cemetery.)

John H. Hundley household

(The first number, for the count of male slaves under ten years of age, is believed to be a "5", which makes the total count of 19 fit, since 4 of the total are from the Free White portion of the household on the previous page.)

The 1840 census sheets of Limestone County for the John H. Hundley household are shown below:

The 1840 record shows that the Hundleys had 7 Free White males, no Free White females, and 19 slaves. In 1850, the John H. Hundley family in Limestone County had 47 slaves, and all of them were listed in Limestone County (none in Madison County, which was checked). The 1860 slave schedules show that the Hundley family owned 68 slaves prior to the outbreak of the Civil War. J. H. Hundley was shown with 38 slaves in Limestone County, none in Madison County. His son J. Henry Hundley was shown with 3 slaves in Limestone County and none in Madison County. Son William H. Hundley was shown with 3 slaves, all in Limestone County. However, son Orville Hundley was listed as owning 18 slaves, all in Madison County. Orville had married Mary E. Holding in Madison County in 1853, and Mary is thought to have been the daughter of Richard Holding, who owned a plantation where the international airport terminal is now located. In the 1850 census, the Holding family was enumerated in Morgan County, with a daughter listed as “Martha” at age 19. That was probably “Mary Martha” Holding. John H. Hundley married Sarah F. Toney (of the town of Madison area) in 1860 in Madison County. There were two Hundley marriages in Madison County in 1871. One was for Joe Hundley and the other for Jordan Hundley. They may have been brothers and one of them may have been the father of the senior John H. Hundley by an earlier wife, since John H. Hundley was born about 1796 in Virginia. It is interesting to note that in 1860 and 1870 John H. Hundley was shown with the occupation of “Cambelite Preacher / Minister”.

The census images for the Hundley family from 1850 through 1870 (without the slave schedules) are inserted below:

The above newspaper clipping shows that Oscar, the son of John H. Hundley Sr., became an attorney in Huntsville by the 1890s. Overall, the family prospered in the pre-Civil War days by using slave labor to farm extensive land holdings. However, after the war, they continued to prosper in professional occupations.

If the cemetery in the NW/4 of Section 17 in T5-R1W was in fact a slave cemetery, the land was owned for the longest period (1838 – 1870) prior to the Civil War by the slave-owning Hundley family. In fact, even the part that was sold to James E. Clark and his wife Lucy Lanier Ives Clark was passed by her Last Will & Testament into Hundley hands. It was not until 1870 (after the end of the Civil War in 1865) that the land passed from Hundley ownership to John Simpson. Therefore, the Simpson slaves of before the Emancipation Proclamation would not be prime candidates for having been buried in this cemetery. Still, the Hundley slaves were not so numerous as to have required such a large cemetery during their period of ownership, so it is suspected that later black families used the site for a community cemetery.

As early as 1893, Zebulon Joiner appears in the land records for this parcel. However, it was not until 1919 that the Simpson and Proctor ownership was relinquished to Frank Jacobs, and then in 1920 Yancy Horton appears as an owner of land in the quarter section. These are known to be black landowner families, who are also associated with several other cemeteries on the arsenal. Examples of their census records of the time are given below:

Because the above 1880 image from Ancestry.com is so weak and difficult to read, the Mormon Church's Family History Resource disks were used to extract portions of the 1880 census. The results are shown below, including Frank Jacobs and Yancy Horton, as well as Zeb Joiner.

These men and their neighbors are the more likely candidates to have been buried in the Unnamed Cemetery, 65-1, than slaves from the pre-Civil War era. Unfortunately, most black families in the South through the early 1900s could not afford tombstones. Furthermore, tombstones at graves were not a part of the culture that had been brought from Africa, and the slave owners in America did not have any reason to teach them that custom. It has only been in more modern times that tombstones at black family graves have become more commonplace. Accordingly, since this cemetery was too large to be a single family burying ground, it therefore is in all probability a black community cemetery on land of the Jacobs and Horton families from the time of the 1920s. If a name is to be considered for it, perhaps the Horton – Jacobs Cemetery, 65-1 would be appropriate.
