appears to show the label "Hafley's ?? Hill" where Hundley Hill stood. Today, there are the remains of a cemetery known as "Hunley Cemetery" at that point.

The problem of the relationship to Lucy Lanier Clark of the Hundley family was somewhat more difficult to unravel. In her death notice, the SOUTHERN ADVOCATE newspaper of Huntsville in 1884 stated that Malinda Hundley was the ONLY daughter of Daniel Robinson.

That statement ruled out that Lucy may have been Malinda's sister, so other relationships were suspected.

The key was found in noticing that the "pre-nupt" was actually recorded as a deed (normally used for a land transaction) between Lucy Lanier and James E. Clark, with wording indicating that Lucy was the widow of John Ives. The land records further showed that brothers Burwell Clinton Lanier, Isaac Alexander Lanier, and William Henry Lanier together patented land that
