The census records inserted below show George Darwin as a child and as head of households in 1920 and in 1930, after his divorce from Lilly Belle Jamar Darwin, sometime between 1920 and 1930. His occupation was “Tax Assessor”, and in 1930 he was shown as married to a much younger woman, Maggie, a “Clerk in (the) Tax Assessor’s Office”. Meanwhile, his first wife, Lilly Jamar Darwin, was shown as “Divorced”, living in a household headed by a sister-in-law who was a widow and working as a “City Librarian”.
