

WOODWARD CEMETERY, 88 - 2

Summary Report

Appropriately near the “end of the road” is the Woodward family cemetery, just a little west and north of the southernmost part of Pershing Road.

Woodward Cemetery, 88-2, Redstone Arsenal, Madison Co. AL, April 28, 2003

Actually, the cemetery is in the southeast quarter of Section 28 of Township 5, Range 1W. This is part of Test Area 5, and the cemetery is located in a field about 150 yards south of Building 8875. Even with the activities going on around it, the wooded cemetery is serene, a very pleasant place to visit. The earliest burials noted by inscriptions on tombstones are for Susan and Eugene C. Woodward.

Woodward Cemetery, 88-2, Redstone Arsenal, Madison Co. AL, April 28, 2003

As can be seen from the dates of the inscriptions, both died in October of 1885. Eugene was an infant, only 7 months old. He was, however, not a son of Susan, who was too old to have been his mother. Susan was probably the grandmother or great grandmother of Eugene. It may well be that they had a common contagious illness of the time that caused the deaths to be in close time order.

The Woodward family was present in Madison County in early times. There was a notice in an early Alabama newspaper that Charles C. Woodward was postmaster of “Woodwardville” in Madison County in 1842, and both the 1850 and the 1860 census records for Madison County show Eli and Hannah Woodward in the same household. Eli was shown as age 50, born in Tennessee, in the 1850 record, while Hannah was shown as age 74, born in North Carolina. The 1860 census showed Eli as age 60, born in Tennessee, and Hannah was listed as age 87, born in South Carolina around 1773. They were certainly among the pioneers of the area, with Hannah most likely being the mother of Eli. Moreover, according to their ages, Eli could well have been a brother of the 1842 postmaster Charles C. Woodward and of John S. Woodward. John S. Woodward, born in Tennessee in 1813, appears in the 1850 census as the father of a family that included John W. Woodward (born 1853) by the 1860 census, after John S. Woodward had died. John W. Woodward lived on the pre-arsenal lands and eventually owned the area where the family cemetery is located.

Still, the only Madison County government land patents in the Woodward name were taken by Eli and by Wilson Woodward. In May of 1831, Eli Woodward patented 80 acres of the east half of the northeast quarter of Section 12, Township 2 and Range 2E. This land is about 4 miles southeast of the town of New Market, in the Cramer Hollow area near Upper Hurricane Creek. It was in August of 1853 when Wilson Woodward patented 50 acres in the northeast quarter of the southwest quarter of Section 23, Township 2 and Range 2E. This land is about 2 miles north of the Madison County Fishing Lake and about 4 miles northeast of the Bell Factory community. It is just less than 3 miles from the land patented by Eli, some 22 years earlier. The private land transaction deed and mortgage index by G. W. Jones Inc. shows no Woodward land acquisitions in the area where the cemetery is located on Redstone Arsenal until 1905. (View the inserted image at 200% zoom.)

The 1850 census of Madison County also shows a Woodward family in the area. The family was headed by John S. Woodward, shown with wife Susanah (Susan) and children that included those shown later in the 1860 census – at least, those who were born by the time of the 1850 enumeration.

The neighbors of the Woodward family in 1850 included Joel Joiner (from whom the many Joiner black families probably took their surnames after emancipation) and doctor Preston Caphaw (which is confirmed by the next census page to be "Capshaw", from which name was derived the Capshaw community and road, northwest of the town of Madison). John S. Woodward married Susan Bell in June of 1840, per the marriage records of the county. That is a pretty good indication that he had left the state of his birth (Tennessee, per the 1850 census record) and moved into Madison County of Alabama by 1840. Further proof that John Woodward was living in Alabama before 1840 is offered by the age and birthplace of the oldest child shown in the household in 1850. Francis L. Woodward was shown as being born in Alabama, but his age was given as 10 in 1850, meaning that he was born sometime in 1840 in this state.

There was no suitable match found in the 1840 census of Alabama or Tennessee for a John Woodward (or under the variant spelling of "Woodard") born in Tennessee (or even born in Alabama) about 1813. Accordingly, there is no way to pursue the history of his line further back into time without some other type of record. However, his children's history can be examined in the years after 1850. The 1860 census record for John's widow Susan Woodward has been presented above. No census record was found for any of the Susan Woodward family in the 1870 census, anywhere in the United States. Of course, that is not unusual, as the reconstruction period after the Civil War in the South led to many census records being incomplete or missing. However, in the 1880 census of Madison County Alabama, Susan is found as head of household again, with sons Clinton, John, and Charles shown at ages that match the 20 years from the 1860 record. Yancy Horton is living nearby, and the census sheet shows that it was for Township 5, Range 1W, which is the general location of the Woodward Cemetery. The census records were inconclusive for exploring Susan's Bell family origin. However, her sons Clinton and John Woodward both married Bell girls, and there were only a couple of possibilities for the right Bells in the 1880 census records. Her son Charles C. Woodward on 1/11/1882 married Bettie Butcher, a cousin of a neighbor in the 1870 census.

Since the image above is difficult to read due to a weak original, a transcribed textual version excerpted from the "FAMILY SEARCH" Family History Resource File CD-ROM set produced by the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints for the 1880 census is inserted below, along with other pertinent research information.

(This could be the Sallie Bell who married John W. Woodward, 11/22/1882 in Madison County, Alabama. It is not known how she could be the daughter of a Mr. LOGAN. However, if the census taker made a mistake and showed the relationship to her mother, rather than to the head of the household, then she may have gotten the Bell surname from an earlier marriage of her mother. Yet, the Madison County Marriage Records show that Abner L. Logan married M. S. Campbell on 12/9/1850 – BEFORE Sallie was born. Maybe Sallie was an adopted orphan by the name of Bell. This census entry is for the only Sallie or Sarah Bell anywhere near the right age, born in 1863 per the 1900 census, to be John W. Woodward's wife.)

The 1890 census was accidentally burned, so it is not in existence to be examined, but the 1900 census has John W. Woodward with his wife Sallie and their 9 living children. According to the record, Sallie had given birth to 11 children, but 2 had died by the time of the census enumeration. John and Sallie had been married for 17 years, and their family included twin sons Charles and John at age 11.

1900 Madison County Alabama Census Page 115-A

Even though John's son Charles Woodward was not found (anywhere) in the census records of 1910 and 1920, it is suspected that he is the one who appears in the 1930 census of Madison County AL. At that time, Charles was enumerated with his wife Laura and his daughter Vivian in the Whitesburg Precinct 6, "off Green Grove Road". This location places him at the ancestral homesite on pre-arsenal land. Charles is given in 1930 as a farmer, age 43, married at age 24, born in Alabama of parents who were both born in Alabama. Laura D. Woodward is given as age 35, married at age 17, born in Missouri of parents who were both born in Missouri. Their daughter Vivian was listed as age 12.

With

Evelyn Darwin, Widow of Tyler Darwin

Mrs. Evelyn Darwin related that she and her husband Tyler Darwin personally moved the old Cooper – Lea / Lee – Harris home from Redstone Arsenal in about 1977 to Madison, Alabama. Tyler Darwin is deceased, but he was an expert cabinetmaker and woodworker in general, according to Evelyn. He rented house-moving equipment from the Kennedy Moving Company, and he moved the house from the arsenal himself in two stages. First the bricks were moved, then the remainder of the house was relocated. The house as they got it was constructed of wood planks, not brick. However, the basement was of brick construction. According to Evelyn, the house is supposed to be haunted, with several stories told of seeing a woman (female ghost) on the stairs at various times. She said that Tyler had grown up around the old house in its original location. When asked if he had ever mentioned the existence of more than one tombstone in the nearby cemetery, she said that she was pretty sure that there were no others during their lifetime.

Evelyn and Tyler had decided to move from Huntsville “into the county” in order to get their son out of the city school system and raise him in a more relaxed setting. Their son was about 12 years old when they moved the house, which had 5 fireplaces – two upstairs and three downstairs. They chose the site in Madison to provide the view overlooking Huntsville, so they bought 4 acres there and put the house on it. Stories of the house and its move were published in the Redstone Arsenal newspaper and in the Huntsville newspapers at various times. She credited U. S. Senator John Sparkman and Huntsville Mayor Joe Davis (personal friends of hers) with helping clear away the “red tape” to get the house move accomplished.

Evelyn said that she had some old photos of the house before the move, but most of her historic materials had been loaned to one of her son’s schoolteachers for a special report, and she never got them back. She also said that the local Darwin families are descended from the famous Charles Darwin, who proposed the theory of evolution, and she stated that he was a religious man who had sons in Christian ministry.

Evelyn further stated that Tyler Darwin’s mother was Edna Woodward, of the Woodward family on the pre-arsenal lands. Edna is buried in Maple Hill Cemetery, but the family still considers the Woodward Cemetery on the arsenal as “theirs”. She intends to revisit it soon, if her son will escort her there. Tyler’s father (Edna’s husband) was Jeff Darwin, and he died in the 1918 great flu epidemic. Tyler died in his 80s, and his mother lived to be 101. Maple Hill Cemetery records (per Old Huntsville Magazine's web page) shows that Edna died January 28, 1989.

Evelyn also mentioned that Huntsville Attorney Fred Simpson interviewed her husband Tyler Darwin extensively for an entire day to learn details of the Woodward girl's murder in Huntsville during the cotton mill days. Mr. Simpson documented the murder details in his book and brought her a complimentary copy after its publication.

*John P. Rankin
103 Madison Avenue
Madison, AL 35758*

Addendum: Percy Keel says that a Mr. Foster lived in the house after the Darwins. Madison City Attorney Ann Marie Lacy and her husband are the present occupants / owners.

The 1910 census included the record below for the family of John W. Woodward, after sons Charles and John were no longer living in the household:

Note that the 1910 census record shows that Sallie was born in Mississippi. No other census record found for her shows that she was born anywhere but Alabama. By 1910 she has also had another child since the 1900 record, by the notation of 12 children born. However, still only 9 were living at the time of the 1910 enumeration. A check of the children's names (for those young enough to still be living at home with their parents) indicates that son Paul had died between 1900 and 1910. His tombstone shows that Paul died in 1906. (View at 200% zoom to see details.)

Woodward Cemetery, 88-2, Redstone Arsenal, Madison Co. AL, April 28, 2003

Son Clyde was the additional child in the 1910 census, given as age 9. Yancy Horton, a known black resident of the pre-arsenal land was enumerated as head of the next household in 1910.

By the time of the 1920 enumeration, John W. Woodward had died, and Sallie as a widow is shown as living in a Meridianville household headed by her widowed daughter Edna (Woodward) Darwin.

While all of the census records show that John W. Woodward / Woodard was married to “Sallie”, the probate records after his death consistently referred to his widow as “Emma”. (See inserted probate records below.) It may be that Sallie’s full name was Sarah Emma Bell Woodward, but that is not clearly shown one single record – it must be deduced.

The land index by G. W. Jones Inc. as provided earlier on page 3 of this report shows that by 1912, James Chapman had also acquired a portion of the land around the cemetery from John W. Woodward and his wife Sallie. Less than a year later, John W. Woodward was deceased, as noted from the census records that were explained earlier and from the specific date on his tombstone.

Woodward Cemetery, 88-2, Redstone Arsenal, Madison Co. AL, April 28, 2003

There are no inscribed tombstones in the Woodward Cemetery with a date more recent than that for John W. Woodward. Apparently, his was the last burial in the little family cemetery, so his children must have all survived from 1913 until the government took the land to create the arsenal in the 1940s. Today the cemetery is kept mowed and fenced and in general good shape by the Army's groundskeeping contractor. It stands as a peaceful, if silent, witness to the impact that a determined family of Woodwards had in keeping the land productive and raising their children in a safe environment. Some of their descendants remain in the Huntsville area and may on occasion visit the cemetery of their ancestors.
